WEALTHY WOMAN GROUND TO DEATH

ged Mrs. Bessie St. John Killed by a Trolley Car on Upper Broadway.

Mrs. Bessie St. John, sixty years old, No. 74 West End avenue, was run over and instantly killed this afternoon by a trolley car at Seventy-seventh street and Broadway.

Mrs. St. John had been waiting a short while and was run down when returning home. She started to cross the avenue at Seventy-seventh street to avoid the turn-up of cars at the station.

When she crossed the subway way she did not notice one of the Boulevard cars bearing down on her swiftly.

Before the motorman realized that Mrs. St. John was not waiting for his car, but was trying to cross the track, he struck the wheels and her head was thrown against the wheels and her body was badly mangled.

She lived but a few seconds after the car was stopped, nearly a block below where the accident happened.

Many of the women passengers in the car screamed in terror when they saw Mrs. St. John fell beneath the car fender, and all rushed in panic toward the rear door. When it was learned that the woman had been run over, the car was cursed the motorman roundly and some of the women berated him at the time.

At the timely arrival of a policeman, it is possible that the motorman might have been rebuked and taken under arrest by the officer and taken to the West Sixty-eighth street police station.

When Mrs. St. John did not notice the car as it came upon her, the guard fender, which is meant to protect the passengers from the trucks.

The dead woman was one of the wealthiest women in the city.

Her husband is a prominent dealer in linings at No. 384 Broadway.

ROME, July 6.—The following bulletin on the Pope's condition was issued at 7.30 o'clock this evening:

"His Holiness's general depression has been accentuated. His breathing is more rapid and superficial. His pulse is weak and evanescent and his temperature much below normal.

The Pope has taken some food with appetite. The slight improvement in his condition continues. While the danger is far from removed, the feeling at the Vatican is calmer.

(Special to The Evening World.)

WEST BIDE PARK, CHICAGO, July 2.—The Giants played an unexpected game yesterday in afternoon with barely any show of victory unless Matthewson could win by superb pitching. The team was to have started for St. Louis Sunday night, but Seale and McGraw decided it might be as well to sandwich in a game when there was a chance.

The Giants were in stretched shape, but business is business, and McGraw forced all the men who were not entirely crippled to jump in and hustle.

Bowerman arrived from his home in Michigan at 10 o'clock. He played in the Victoria a game in which his right foot swollen twice its ordinary size.

No one but a nervy professional ball player would have made the long trip much less attempt to work with an injury so painful. Surgeons had dressed the wound caused by Devlin's spike in the Newark game two weeks ago, and wrapped the foot up in antiseptic bandages so Bowerman could play.

Bowerman could not bear his weight and stood behind the plate practically on one foot, and going after four flies was simply out of the question. The game was played badly in yesterday's game by Jones, Gabbert and Launder were both injured so that the team lacked activity and had less chance than a bottle of pop.

McGraw was furious over Sedgwick's promise to protest the game on Sunday when the umpires were remarkably lenient in their conditions. President Hart, who is sore on John T. Brush and the whole New York outfit, merely looked through his gold-rimmed glasses and said nothing except that he would insist on the rules being exact: many away, but a crowd of 3,500 was on hand to root for the home team and throw empty bottles.

First Inning.
New York was first to bat and the veteran Jack Menafee nearly twisted an arm off generating speed. Brown caught the second for a short hoise over second that Jones made a good running catch of. Then Van Haltren connected with the some sort of a slant and poked it in the same direction, with the same result. Dan McGann got Menafee on the first, but the ump. But Vertes

Matty, who drew 2,000 people to the game by his fame, had all speed with him. First man up, Slagle, took three balls and then lined to Lauder. Then, that Cook, Chicago's new acquisition, could manage was a tap to Gilbert. Matty took an airship for the moment, giving Chance his base. When Matty presented Jones the bleachers bawled all sorts of nasty things, calling "Matty an old woman, —. After three balls and two strikes on Tinker the Microbe short-stop clipped an easy one to Babb then was fumbled, and the bases were full. Ever was called upon to clear the bases while the bleachers bawled, but he only tripped to McGann. No runs.

Second Inning.

Babb waited for two good ones, passed to Cook, who threw badly to Chance, giving Babb second. Menefee got no trouble striking Lauder out.

Gilbert banged a ripper to Chance, who fumbled. Bowerman hit over second, scoring Babb and sending Gilbert to third. He took second himself on the throw. Matty filed good and long to left, scoring Gilbert. Harley gobbled Browne's holst. Two runs.

Matty continued his wildness, giving Harley a present right at the outset. Launder made a fancy pick up, then dropped the ball, but got it to second in time to nail Harley from Kling's rap.

Menefee tried a bunt, but Blatty cemented and threw successfully to second, blocking Kling. Menefee attempted to steal, but Bowerman was too quick. No runs.

ROME, July 6.—The following bulletin on the Pope's condition was issued at 7.30 o'clock this evening:

"His Holiness's general depression has been accentuated. His breathing is more rapid and superficial. His pulse is weak and evanescent and his temperature much below normal.

The Pope has taken some food with appetite. The slight improvement in his condition continues. While the danger is far from removed, the feeling at the Vatican is calmer.

For the first time since the Pope's illness took a serious turn, Dr. Lapponi ventured to leave the Vatican this afternoon for one hour on urgent private business. The fact aroused hopes that the Pontiff is on the way to recovery. But his condition remains very grave, though no immediate danger is apprehended.

The doctors cannot prevent him from getting up when he demands to do so in an imperious manner and with flashing eye.

He is said to have remarked to Cardinal Agliardi to-day: "I will not die in bed."

The only persons allowed in the Pope's bedroom to-day besides the doctors and attendants were Cardinal Rampolla, Mgr. Bisleti, the Master of the Pontifical Chambers, and Brig.-Gen. Count Camillo Pecci, of the Noble Guard (a nephew of the Pope), who is staying permanently at the quarters of the Guard.

The Pontiff conversed for a long time with Count Pecci, even rising and walking about the room for a few minutes, leaning on his arm. The Pontiff on this occasion remarked:

"Now I am ready to depart, having settled all my affairs. I feel I have done all in my power for the good of the Church and of humanity."

Dr. Laponni's chief task now is the maintenance of the Pope's strength. Some improvement was indicated this afternoon by the fact that the patient was more willing to take nourishment, which was administered at short intervals and consisted chiefly of Bordeaux, champagne, raw eggs and broth, but the doctor would permit the Pope to partake of anything in reason for which he expressed a desire, as there is special danger in the possibility of increased weakness.

MANY CONFLICTING REPORTS.

The newspapers here contain many conflicting statements about the Pope and his condition. The Tribuna says:

"He spends his time partly in bed and partly in an arm chair. Expectoration is the first sign thus far of any organic reaction, and it is considered to be a good symptom, but the Pope's weakness is increasing."

All those who have seen the Pope are struck with his indomitable energy. He is reported as still addressing those about him in imperious tones.

Over 500 telegrams expressing sympathy with the Pope or asking for news of his condition arrived at the Vatican to-day, including messages from President Roosevelt, King Edward and Emperor Francis Joseph.

THINKS OF HIS RELATIVES.
The Pontiff yesterday ordered that a piano be given to his grand-nephews, also giving directions that they should be told that the Pope was thinking of them in his last moments.

The Giornale d'Italia says: "The improvement in the Pope's condition does not give hope of his recovery. He may live throughout the day, but it is greatly feared that a change for the worse will supervene this evening."
